Subject: [EXTERNAL] RE: Organizations who tested and submitted tub spout diverter results to MAEDBS

Hi Bo,

We currently don't have a query that allows us to determine which test labs were used for a recent submission or test labs that are linked to a manufacturer. I will ask our MAEDBS team if one can be developed, but it could take days. There is another way by going through the submittal applications (see image below) but you would not have access to this. Our team can go through recent submittal applications to determine which test lab was used by the manufacturer, but this can take few days depending on how far we go.

If you questions let me know.

Best,
Jessica

Appliance Submittal Declaration

To meet the requirements of Title 20, companies wishing to certify appliances with the California Energy Commission must provide contact information for themselves and for the test laboratory used to produce the certification data on the following page. If a test lab was not used (for example, if a manufacturer is requesting only that model certification and an appropriate exception has been met, the Test Laboratory section may be left blank.

Subject: Organizations who tested and submitted tub spout diverter results to MAEDBS

Hi Jessica,

Might the Energy Commission have documentation indicating which organizations submitted tub spout diverter results to their MAEDBS database? If so, may you please help me obtain that info?

I'm having trouble getting any test labs to confirm interviews with me, even though I emailed every test lab in the Title 20 company directory using the filter of "plumbing fittings" (see attached). Those that have responded stated that they haven't tested tub spout diverters. I will be calling the labs who haven't responded yet, but wanted to see if the Energy Commission might have any handy information.
